Brief in Reply to the General Counsel's Probable Cause Brief

On behalf of Respondents Federer for Congress Committee ("the Committee") and Thomas M. Busken, as treasurer, we reply to the General Counsel's ("GC") Brief recommending that the Commission find probable cause to believe that Respondents violated 2 U.S.C. § 441b and 434(b). Respondents flatly reject the GC's conclusion that Federer for Congress received a prohibited corporate advance from AM & PM, Inc. or otherwise received a corporate contribution from Amerisearch, Inc.

1. The so-called "advance" by AM & PM, Inc. was nothing more than a campaign manager/vendor paying for campaign materials in the ordinary course of his business that were subsequently billed to, and paid for by, the campaign.

11 C.F.R. § 116.3(b) provides that an incorporated vendor in its capacity as a commercial vendor may extend credit to a candidate or political committee provided that the credit is extended in the ordinary course of the corporation's business and the terms are substantially similar to extensions of credit to non-political debtors that are of similar risk and size of obligation. In this case, the campaign manager and commercial vendor were the same person and entity for a short time in 1999 and he (through his company) extended credit to Federer for Congress in the ordinary course of his business.

Mr. Bill Federer was introduced to Mr. Paul Matteucci near the end of his 1998 campaign for a seat in the United States House of Representatives. He came highly recommended as a knowledgeable and experienced campaign consultant and he helped Mr. Federer's campaign for a seat in Congress during the last few weeks before the 1998 general election. Federer Aff. ¶1. When he ran for the same seat in 2000, Mr. Federer employed Paul Matteucci as his campaign manager from approximately June 9 to September 9, 1999. Id. ¶2. Mr. Mateucci represented to Mr. Federer that in the ordinary course of his management of a campaign, he (through his company, AM & PM, Inc.) would negotiate with, and/or purchase from outside vendors, campaign materials and services, apart from those materials and services that he could provide directly. Id. ¶3. AM & PM, Inc. would then bill the campaign committees for its expenses, whether for the materials and services it provided directly or for those that were purchased from outside vendors. Id. This method of operation, he told Mr. Federer, enabled him to focus his attention on raising funds and campaigning while Mr. Mateucci took care of the logistics of running the campaign. Id. ¶4. Mr. Federer accepted Mr. Mateucci's representations as the ordinary manner in which he managed campaigns. Id.

During the three-month period in which Paul Matteucci managed the Federer for Congress campaign, AM & PM, Inc. designed the Federer for Congress logo, obtained yard signs, bumper stickers, letterhead and envelopes, thank you notes, shirts, stickers, books, business cards, buttons, contribution reply envelopes, office supplies, cellular and office telephones, telephone service, long distance charges, postage, use of a copier, copy paper, copier toner, use of computers, software, printers, printer toner, rental of office space, utilities, paid office staff, campaign workers, temporary labor, marketing expenses, lunches, transportation costs, internet services and Web site work. Id.

AM & PM, Inc. negotiated, and contracted directly, with vendors for the above-mentioned services few exceptions and paid for them directly before billing the campaign. Id. ¶6. In fact, during the three-month period in which Paul Matteucci managed the Federer for Congress campaign, the campaign made disbursements of $37,774.04 to AM & PM, Inc., 78 percent of the total $48,498.47 in disbursements made to outside vendors during this time period. Of the remaining $10,559.44 in disbursements paid directly by the campaign during the time that Paul Matteucci managed the campaign, $76.97 was for a Southwestern Bell phone bill (an account set up before Paul Matteucci was campaign manager), $1,875 paid off a debt to Jim Tabor, the campaign's treasurer in 1998 (who the campaign would have been expected to pay directly), $665 was for establishing a system to accept credit card contributions (which the credit card vendor required the campaign to pay directly), and the remainder, $7,942.44, went to a company (Intaglio Creative Services) whose owner was a friend of Paul Matteucci's, who arranged that the campaign would pay this vendor directly. Id. ¶7.

As campaign manager, Paul Matteucci also suggested distributing as campaign promotional material copies of a quotations book Mr. Federer had compiled, America's God and Country. Because he did not want to give the erroneous impression that he was personally benefiting from Federer for Congress' purchase of the book, Paul Matteucci advised Mr. Federer (and he accepted his representation) that AM & PM, Inc.'s purchase of the printing of this book directly from the printer, Dickinson Press, and subsequent sale of the books to Federer for Congress would be a permissible manner to avoid the false impression that Mr. Federer was personally benefiting from the campaign's purchase of the book. Id. ¶7.

The facts, therefore, make clear that Federer for Congress' used a campaign manager/vendor whose ordinary course of business involved negotiating with and purchasing directly from vendors for campaign materials and services. The book order was no exception. This is not altogether unlike a candidate committee using the services of a media buying firm to negotiate with, and purchase advertising time from, television and radio stations, and then subsequently paying the media buying firm for its services, including the time purchased. This type of transaction is not considered a prohibited corporate contribution to a candidate committee. Rather, it's the usual manner in which a committee does business with a vendor of that nature. Likewise, when a candidate committee's campaign manager/vendor negotiates and purchases a variety of campaign services and materials, including the printing of books for distribution as a candidate promotional item, this is not a prohibited corporate contribution.

Moreover, the Mr. Federer cannot be faulted for taking steps to avoid the appearance that he was using campaign contributions to profit personally. As the Commission is quite aware, the constitutional justifications of campaign finance restrictions rest in large part on the avoidance of the appearance of corruption. Had the public received the false impression that Federer for Congress was a vehicle to enrich Mr. Federer, this would have only fed the cynicism continually espoused by the campaign finance "reform" community that election campaigns are seed beds of corruption.

2. Amerisearch, Inc.'s joint purchase with Federer for Congress of the add-on order was not something of value given to the Committee because Amerisearch, Inc. benefited more from the joint purchase than did Federer for Congress.

Just as a Federal PAC involved in a list exchange agreement of equal value does not receive something of value for purposes of the FECA's contribution limits, AO 2002-14 (Libertarian National Committee, Inc.), so also when a Federal PAC is involved in a joint purchase with another entity in which both receive a volume discount of equal value from which neither would otherwise benefit apart from the joint purchase, no contribution to the Federal PAC takes place.

In this instance, Amerisearch, Inc. received more than a benefit of equal value from the joint purchase and this resulted from several factors.

Initially, the net benefit to AM & PM, Inc. from the add-on order standing alone, apart from the factors mentioned below, was only $744 as both entities received a mutual benefit from the joint purchase that would not have otherwise accrued to either. Brian Van Geest Aff. ¶ 8, attached hereto. Amerisearch, Inc.'s benefit from the volume discount was $8,889.00 Id. ¶5. AM & PM, Inc.'s benefit was $9,633.00, id. ¶7., a difference of $744.

Secondly Paul Matteucci mistakenly paid Dickinson Press $12,180 (the incorrect amount) for Amerisearch, Inc.'s (the wrong entity's) portion of the add-on order, listed on the original July 20, 1999 Quote #71502B, Federer Aff. Attachment A, which Mr. Federer did not edit or sign. Paul Matteucci invoiced Federer for Congress $11,491 because that was the actual cost of AM & PM's Inc.'s portion of the adjusted add-on order. Federer Aff. Attachment B and VanGeest Aff, attached hereto. Consequently, no portion of AM & PM's portion of the add-on order remains unrefunded. Amerisearch, Inc. benefited from Paul Matteucci's $689.00 mistake because AM & PM, Inc. paid $689.00 of Amerisearch, Inc.'s share of the invoice. Id. ¶9.

Also, unanticipated additional copies of the books were printed, i.e., a print overrun, of the Perfect Bound Edition (282) and Perfect Casebound with Gilded Edges (109). This overrun was a result of AM & PM, Inc.'s order, which was itemized in Dickinson Press, Inc. Invoice #I001508, Federer Aff. Attachment C, and they were delivered to, and taken possession of, by Amerisearch, Inc. at no charge, a net gain to Amerisearch, Inc. of $1,068.30 (282 x $1.9430 + 109 x $4.7740). Id. ¶10.

In addition, books costing at least $3,059.00 and paid for by Federer for Congress were transferred to and taken possession of by Amerisearch, Inc. Id. ¶11. At least 37 boxes (16 books per case) of the Perfect Bound, which cost $1.9430 per book, and 25 cases (16 books per case) of the Perfect Casebound with gilded edges, which cost $4.7740 per book, were not used by the campaign due to negative political attacks on the book and its use by the campaign. Id. These books were moved within the warehouse and eventually became part of Amerisearch, Inc.'s inventory, resulting in a net benefit to Amerisearch, Inc. from the add-on order. Id.

Finally, the General Counsel's Brief at 7 states that the "Committee, therefore, should have included a proportionate share of the $2,769 in related costs." However Dickinson Press's usual and normal charge for printing a book does not include additional charges to tear down and re-strip film ($2,991.00 + $176.08 + $19.55). Id. ¶12. These unusual charges listed it its invoice are attributable to the original order alone. Id. Federer Affidavit Attachment D contains copies of all Dickinson Press quotes from March 15, 1999 to March 29, 2004, which indicate that only one order, #24740, had additional charges to correct pages with typographical and grammatical erratum. Consequently, the usual and normal costs for the add-on order did not include $698 in a "proportionate share of related costs".

The above-mentioned factors clearly demonstrate that Federer for Congress did not receive a $1,525.00 contribution from Amerisearch, Inc. To the contrary, Amerisearch, Inc. was the net beneficiary by at least $4,816.00.

3. The Committee concedes that the purpose of some of its disbursements were inadequately described.

The Committee's volunteer treasurers failed to grasp the level of precision required in describing disbursements. Nonetheless, all reports have been adequately amended and the public suffered no harm during the interim.

For the aforementioned reasons, the Commission should not find probable cause to believe that Federer for Congress violated 2 U.S.C. §§ 441b(a) and 434(b).

AFFIDAVIT OF BRIAN VAN GEEST

I, Brian Van Geest, hereby swear that the following information is based on my personal knowledge, that I am competent to testify, and that it is both true and correct:

- 1. I am an account representative for Dickinson Press, which published America's God and Country, and was employed by Dickinson Press during the relevant times at issue in the above-referenced matter.
- 2. Regarding Dickinson Press Quote #71502B, dated July 20, 1999, the cost of 1,000 copies of Perfect Bound was $1,943.00. The cost of 2,000 copies of Perfect Casebound gilded was $9,548.00 for a combined cost of $11,491, paid by AM & PM, Inc. The cost of 3,000 copies Perfect Casebound was $9,135.00, paid by Amerisearch, Inc.
- 3. There was no benefit to AM & PM, Inc. from this order being listed as an "add-on" to the earlier Dickinson Press Quote #24720C as 30 days had elapsed and the price per pound weight of paper had increased, necessitating a recalculation of costs.
- 4. Regarding Dickinson Press Quote #71502B, dated July 20, 1999, if Amerisearch, Inc.'s order of 3,000 copies of Perfect Casebound were published independent of AM & PM, Inc.'s order of 1,000 copies of Perfect Bound and 2,000 copies of Perfect Casebound gilded, the cost to Amerisearch, Inc. would have been $18,024.00.
- 5. Amerisearch, Inc., therefore received a benefit of $8,889.00 as a result of ordering together with AM & PM, Inc.'s purchase.
- 6. If AM & PM, Inc.'s order were published independent from Amerisearch, Inc.'s order, the cost to AM & PM, Inc. would have been $21,124.00.

- 7. AM & PM, Inc., therefore, received a benefit of $9,633.00 as a result of ordering together with Amerisearch Inc.'s order.
- 8. AM & PM, Inc., therefore received a net benefit of $744 from combining its order with Amerisearch, Inc.
